New Crisis Appears in Troubled Ohio Steel Plant Areas—Companies Reject Proposal to Conduct Union Elections in Affected Industries—Meeting at Youngstown Today

CLEVELAND, June 24 (AP).—The Governor of Ohio lifted his "status quo" restrictions in the Mahoning Valley, hot spot of the steel strike, tonight, ordering the troops to see that steel employees who want to work "shall enjoy the privilege without being molested."

Almost at the same time, the two companies operating plants in the Mahoning area—Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube—issued terse identical statements refusing the request of President Roosevelt's mediation board for a "man-to-man discussion around the conference table," with C.I.O. representatives.

REFUSAL TO SIGN
"We are very sorry that all we can do is to reaffirm the position we have maintained from the beginning," the statements said. "We cannot, in justice to our employees, sign a contract with C.I.O."

Governor Martin Davey, who, in sending troops into the Valley early this week, told them to preserve the status quo—permitting the non-strikers to continue at work but forbidding any additional workmen to enter the plants—said tonight: "The right to work is sacred. The right to strike is equally valid. Those who want to return to their employment shall enjoy that privilege without being molested. Those

RALLY SHOWS
PARTY UNITY

Adherents of French Popular Front in Mass Meeting—Securities Rise

PARIS, June 24 (AP).—The Popular Front tonight rallied its adherents in a huge, though brief, mass meeting to show that, in spite of a change in Premiers, it remains united in support of its programme of social and economic reform.

Leaders of the parties which supported Socialist Leon Blum through his year in the Premiership and now are aligned behind the new Premier, Camille Chautemps, addressed a throng in the Place de la Nation. Members of the Chautemps Cabinet remained away, because, it was reported, the cabinet had not yet made its first appearance before Parliament.

RISE ON BOURSE

The Bourse saw a general rise of securities prices. Government issues led advance. Three per cent rentes (Government bonds) closed at 69.20 francs, as compared with yesterday's closing of 66.75 (for 100 francs face value).

Belief that the crisis over Germany's demand for a joint demonstration against the Spanish Government was abated was a factor in the recovery.

An authoritative source said the Cabinet decided to ask Parliament for power to meet certain problems by decree—without immediate Parliamentary approval—but to refrain from asking the sweeping powers over finance which the Senate refused to give Blum. It was that setback which caused Blum's resignation Monday.

TO REPRESENT THE DOMINION

Minister of Justice Will Attend Paris Congress For Canada

PARIS, June 24 (CP-Havas).—Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, will represent Canada at the Congress of American Nationalists for intellectual, moral and economic rapprochement, organized here under the patronage of the University of Paris and the Franco-American Committee.

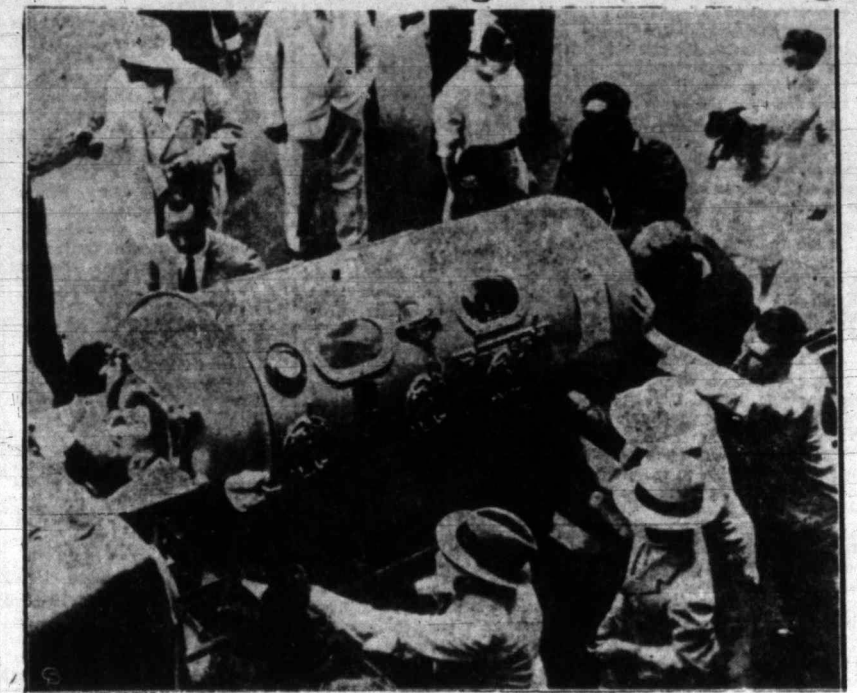

The congress will open next Monday, June 28, and continue until July 3. It has the following objects: 1. To arrange for personal contact between leaders of the intellectual, economic and social life of the American nations and France. 2. To present a series of reports on the present condition of these nations, intellectually, socially and morally.

Political questions will be excluded. Among reports of particular interest to Canadians will be those on the Canadian railways, on French influences in the literature of American nations, America's relations to French literature and French universities, and expositions of French art in American and French films in American countries.

Other reports will deal with centres of French culture in Canada and among French-Americans; French books in America and French libraries in America.

Mr. Lapointe will speak at the opening session.

King and Queen Have Strenuous
Round of Ceremonies

LONDON, June 24 (AP).—July will bring no let up in the strenuous round of ceremonial for the King and Queen. The royal residence at the Palace of Holyrood House at Edinburgh begins on July 5. The visit to Scotland will be notable for two reasons. It will be the first time Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret have visited the city and it will be the first time a Queen has attended the service of the Order of the Thistle. Queen Elizabeth is to be invested with the order during her residence at Holyrood House.

The royal family will return to London in time to begin a tour of Wales at Newport on July 14 and as soon as they get back from Wales they will prepare for a visit to Northern Ireland. They will arrive at Belfast on July 28, escorted by the new cruiser Newcastle.

FARMERS HELPED BY BENNETT ACT

Creditors' Arrangement Measure Brings Reduction of $35,000,000 In Debt—Interest Saving

OTTAWA, June 24 (AP).—Operations of the Farmers Creditors' Arrangement Act, one of the social reform statutes passed by the Bennett Government and sustained in the appeal to the Privy Council, have brought about reduction of some $35,000,000 in farm debt and an interest saving of about $4,000,000 a year.

Put into effect in 1934, the act has brought 27,000 applications from debt-ridden farmers and 22,000 of these have been dealt with to the extent the applicant has had his financial position rearranged through compromise with his creditors.

OTTAWA, June 24 (AP).—A seventeen-year-old youth appeared in police court today on a charge of manslaughter arising from the death of Queen Shin, a Chinese.

The youth was alleged to have been in charge of an automobile which collided with a truck driven by the Chinese, throwing him against the windshield so that the victim pierced his forehead. He died in hospital two hours later.

A Chinese companion escaped with minor injuries.

The charge against the youth was originally laid in juvenile court, but became a preliminary hearing in police court on the decision of Magistrate H. S. Wood.

Governor's Plea Fails to Halt Spread of General
Labor Strike

HEAVY DAMAGE AT
SUGAR PLANTATION

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, June 24 (AP).—Lightermen, cartmen and cocoa estate laborers tonight joined the general strike of oil field and sugar plant employees, which has taken fourteen lives, injured scores, and tied up industry in Trinidad for five days.

Two British cargo steamers were unable to discharge cargo tonight as lightermen struck, despite the Governor's plea to return to work and his promise to push wage increases, made in a proclamation issued yesterday.

READY FOR VIOLENCE

Marines of two British warships worked feverishly tonight preparing for violence feared tomorrow, payday for many of the oilfield workers. Some pay is due a number of them, but clerks have been unable to work since the strikes started. There will be no payrolls.

The only major disturbance reported today came from a sugar plantation, where strikers burned thousands of acres of sugar cane.

SEES UNITY OF

Lord Tweedsmuir Declares Impulse for United Christendom Apparent

MONTREAL, June 24 (AP).—Belief that the movement toward union of Christian churches would not weaken was expressed tonight by Lord Tweedsmuir before the quadrennial council of World Alliance of Presbyterian and Reformed Churches.

"There are many problems to be solved before we are in sight even of Protestant union," the Viceroy said, "and many more before there is hope of a united Christendom. But the impulse is there, and I do not think that it will weaken, since it is in accord with a universal impulse in secular life."

DARE NOT WEAKEN

"It dare not weaken when the church has to face so many foes," Lord Tweedsmuir, addressing 200 delegates attending the seven-day convention from more than a dozen lands, declared he was speaking not as Governor-General, but as "a Presbyterian to fellow Presbyterians and as a son of a Presbyterian minister."

He told the delegates that, in the movement toward unity, Presbyterianism had "a large part to play." It might, in the future, act as a "bridge-kirk" between "churches rich in historic accretions and churches which lack them."

MOSCOW, June 24 (AP).—Dr. Otto J. Schmidt, leader of the Soviet North Pole expedition, tonight disclosed a proposal for a chain of "amphibian tank" bases for Moscow-North American flights across the polar wastelands.

Dr. Schmidt, who is at Archangel, returning from establishing a polar base, said the polar expedition has shown planes can land freely on polar ice and carry out unlimited scientific work.

FEELS CONCERN FOR FISHERIES

May Be Necessary to Repudiate Three-Mile Limit to Stop Encroachment

SEATTLE, June 24 (AP).—Edward W. Allen, of Seattle, member of the International Fisheries Commission, said today repudiation of the doctrine of the three-mile limit on territorial waters might be necessary to save American fisheries from "foreign encroachment."

(At Libbyville, Alaska, today, fishermen awaiting opening of the red salmon fishing season said they saw twenty-six foreign fishing craft off the mouth of Bristol Bay and that they identified a number of them as Japanese vessels.)

PROBLEMS ANSWERED

There are two answers to the problem, Allen said—a programme of international conservation or abandonment of the three-mile limit rule.

"The three-mile limit," he added, "was established at a time in history when three miles was the maximum range of any cannon, and it therefore represented the greatest amount of water that could be defended from the shore. Also, it was believed at that time there was an inexhaustible supply of fish in deep-sea waters. Cannon now have been devised that can shoot seventy miles, and it has been proven that deep-sea fisheries can be exhausted, so both reasons are obsolete."

Routine discussions in the Conservative Council meeting were promptly shelved at noon, when Chamberlain led Lord and Lady Baldwin to the platform. After some minutes of cheering, Chamberlain was able to begin his speech, presenting Lord Baldwin with a bound volume containing 558 resolutions of appreciation by Conservative party organizations

Eden Tells House Reports of Movements of Teuton Warships "Should Be Received With Great Reserve"—Nazi Government Adopts Watchful Waiting Policy in Spanish Crisis

British Have Assurances
No Naval Action Intended

BERLIN, June 24 (AP).—The German Government adopted an attitude of watchful waiting tonight in the Spanish crisis, but apparently bolstered its naval strength in the troubled area. Two of the Reich's three pocket battleships were on Spanish duty, together with four of its six light cruisers.

(Gibraltar reported seven German warships passed through the Strait of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean. They were identified as the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer, the cruiser Nürnberg, and the destroyers Tiger, Falke, Albatros, Kondor and Grieff. They apparently came from off the Portuguese coast and were heading for Spain's Mediterranean coasts.)

DISEASE CAN BE ARRESTED

Medical Men Hear of Research Work for Preventing Tuberculosis

OTTAWA, June 24 (AP).—A scheme of examination which "precludes tuberculosis as a disease altogether, or, failing this, practically guarantees against advanced disease" was described today before the Canadian and Ontario Medical Associations.

EXTENSIVE WORK

Dr. W. D. Ogden, of Toronto, read a paper representing the work of himself and nine colleagues over a period of fifteen years in observing a group of more than 1,300 persons exposed to tuberculosis and 400 persons with a view to anticipating and preventing development of tuberculosis disease. He said that of those persons in the group who followed the prescribed scheme not one developed tuberculosis.

ALL WERE CURED

Since the addition of the test to the scheme, Dr. Ogden said, "no tuberculosis has developed in a contact case under observation without a positive test to warn of potential danger" and "of the very few who developed tuberculosis not one was past the first stage and all were cured and back at work within eighteen months."

The physicians made observations designed to determine the period of incubation in tuberculosis with a view to determining how long they might have to anticipate the disease after positive tests indicated its latency in a patient. In 1929 they believed the average time between infection and exposure and development of a lesion was three years. Their latest reckoning added two years to that figure.

Insurgent Cruiser Sends Government Ship to Bottom Off French Coast—Crew Captured

PORT VENDRES, France, June 24 (AP).—The insurgent cruiser Baleares bombarded and sank the Spanish Government freighter Trinidad seven miles off the French coast today.

Another Spanish Governmental vessel, the Carmelita, accompanying the Trinidad, escaped into French territorial waters.

The Trinidad's crew of seven, which attempted to flee in a lifeboat, was captured and taken aboard the 10,000-ton Baleares. The freighter, commanded by Captain Ignacio Carasco, was headed for Port Vendres from Sets, France.

The incident took place outside French territorial waters and French warships at Port Vendres did not intervene.

Real Estate Board Takes Exception to Zoning Provisions

Representatives Invited to Meet Saanich Council July 8—New Minimum Wage Enactment to Be Investigated by Committee

OBJECTION to the proposed Saanich zoning by-law was taken by the Victoria Real Estate Board in a letter read before the municipal council last evening. Hubert Lethaby, secretary of the board, wrote that the wording of the by-law was vague and that its implications were not fully understood, and that its passage would cause a great deal of unnecessary restrictions in the residential area that would come under the enactment. The board does not object to zoning in principle, it was pointed out.

As a result, members of the board will be asked to appear before the council at the meeting of July 8, when the matter will be more fully discussed.

A committee composed of Councillors A. G. Lambick, E. C. Warren, G. A. Austin and H. H. Allen, municipal engineer, was named by Reeve William Crouch to investigate the ramifications of the recent order of the British Columbia Industrial Relations Board, which sets the wages of certain skilled workmen at 75 cents per hour, and that for laborers, over the age of twenty-one, at 40 cents an hour.

FARMERS' WAGES

"It is a step in the right direction, but it should be all embracing," commented Councillor L. C. Hagan.

Councillor Lambick suggested that most farmers were only making an extremely small wage. "If we were paid at that rate, the price of milk would be doubled," he said.

The committee will look into the matter from the viewpoint of wages that must be paid by the municipality.

A letter of appreciation to the council, thanking them for their work in obtaining the mosquito menace in lands adjacent to Island View Beach, was received from the Victoria Fruit Packers' Association, while Councillor Hagan was sent a letter signed by thirty-eight property owners of Ward Six, thanking him for the work done in this connection.

THANKS COUNCIL

Councillor Hagan personally thanked his confreres for their assistance, declaring that the mosquitoes had made life unbearable in "four or five hundred homes in the district," and praised Mr. Allen for formulating the successful scheme of drainage and carrying it to fruition in the face of objection of certain individuals.

W. D. Michell, a property owner in the vicinity, added his thanks, and asked for protection of the work done, and the completion of a nearby road to attract tourists. Reeve Crouch explained that the matter had been discussed at recent meetings of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Saanich Board of Trade, and appointed Councillors Lambick, Austin and John Watson to further investigate the matter.

A communication complaining of the condition of the tracks at the corner of Douglas Street and Tolmie Avenue, and Burnside Avenue and Dupplin Road, will be forwarded to the British Columbia Electric Railway. The matter was brought before the council by Councillor E. C. Warren.

BALDWIN GOES AMID CHEERS AND TRIBUTES

of sacrifice in Baldwin's career. The former Premier had never put himself before the country's interests. He had never feared opposition, even that of his friends, if he thought they were not following the right course.

"So he earned universal respect," Chamberlain declared. "No man has done more to keep politics clean and sane, break down class warfare, educate the people to recognize the responsibility of democracy as well as its rights."

"Now he is going into a well-earned rest in a blaze of glory and admiration, perhaps never before given a retiring party leader. There have been other occasions when eloquent tribute has been paid to his services to the nation. Today, we of the Conservative party want to register our gratitude to him for what he has done for us."

A UNITED PARTY

"I do not think that in all the years I have been connected with politics, that I remember any period in which the Conservative party has been more completely united, or in which it stood higher in the esteem of the country as a whole, and it is because it has never been more closely attuned to the general aims and attitude of the great majority of the people of this country," Lord Baldwin said.

Taking the volume in his hand, Chamberlain turned to Baldwin, saying: "And so Prime Minister—(laughter and applause)—Earl Baldwin of Bewdley, I do not think that sounds right, let me say that, recognizing all you have done for the party, members throughout the country desired to put in permanent form their expressions of gratitude and affection and bound this volume, which is itself a magnificent specimen of British craftsmanship."

TO LADY BALDWIN

"But, sir, I would not adequately complete my task if I did not add a word or two by way of tribute to the lady who all these years has stood by your side; who, we know, strenuously supported you with encouragement and affection. We rejoice that you both still have health and strength to enjoy leisure."

"I hope you will still give us the benefit of your ripe reason and experience, and I trust that both will live many years longer, secure in the affections of the people."

After several minutes of wild cheering the meeting sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Lord Baldwin moved from the dais to reply. Obviously moved by the warmth of the reception, he was unable to speak for some moments and then, in a breaking voice, said slowly and deliberately:

LORD BALDWIN REPLIES
"In the course of my political life I have been shouted down and was indifferent. I have sat down in the Commons amid deaf silence and was indifferent. I have sat down one or two other occasions when cheers came from the heart as they have come from the heart today. Then indeed I care and am overwhelmed."

"I agree with the Premier's remarks of the unity of the party. We, through our homogeneity, through our public spirit, through our sense of being a national party,

British Columbia To Welcome Their Excellencies Soon

THEIR Excellencies, Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir, have now confirmed their intended visit to British Columbia about the middle of August, and the Governor-General will be taken on a personally conducted tour through Tweedsmuir Park, Premier Pattullo said yesterday. Assistant Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons, of the British Columbia Police, will leave in a week's time for the park, to make arrangements for the tour through some of the finest lake districts the province has to offer. Hon. A. W. Gray will accompany His Excellency on the tour through British Columbia areas.

must be a great nucleus to maintain the constitution, maintain a charitable sanity of outlook, to fight to the death the extremist movement in this country and prevent the dangers which have come from the triumph of that movement in some countries abroad, being repeated in our own beloved land.

AT WIFE'S COMMAND

"I am so glad he said what he did about my wife. When I had been in Parliament seven years I said to her: 'I am no use in London, to God, or man. I am going to throw this game up and live in the country, where I can be of some use.' She told me: 'You said you would stick it ten years. Stick it ten years; then, if you still think you are no good, I will agree to your going.' And so all that followed was really her fault. I do hope that for the happiness of our old age she is satisfied with her handiwork."

Lord Baldwin then turned in tribute to Chamberlain, recalling the letter he had received from him in August, 1922, in reply to one Baldwin had sent offering Chamberlain the post of Chancellor of the Exchequer. One paragraph said:

"What a day! Two salutes, a morning and an offer of the Exchequer this afternoon." Chamberlain had not accepted, saying he would rather serve the Government in a capacity in which he would be more useful.

"That has been his creed of life with the result that the whole party knows and believes the job he can do the best today is the Premiership," Lord Baldwin said.

IN FUTURE YEARS

Turning back to himself, the retiring statesman said: "It is not easy to speak. I cannot, if I desired, give advice as to the future. It is not my part. If I had done so past I run the great risk of slipping into the garrulity of old age, a thing against which I have fulminated for many years past."

"My fondest hope is to see the Premier and those with him beginning to build something on the foundation on which he helped so much—something lasting for the good of our people and the happiness of our country."

Several minutes' applause followed and then Lord and Lady Baldwin, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain, walked out of the room slowly. At the door Lady Baldwin turned and waved her hand. Lord Baldwin bowed gravely.

BRITAIN PASSIVE IN SPANISH CRISIS

destroyers, torpedo boats, submarines and mine sweepers under construction or completed, but reliable indications were that less than half the available number of these smaller vessels were assigned to Spain.

Of the pocket battleships, only the Deutschland, recently bombed by Spanish Government planes, remained at home. The Admiral Graf Spee sped to Spanish waters today to join the Admiral Von Scheer.

Wilhelmstrasse sources indicated Germany had nothing to add to yesterday's semi-official declaration, in which the Government decided to "take into its own hands" safeguarding of its interests and ships against Bolshevik firebrands in Valencia.

BRITISH VIEWPOINT

LONDON, June 24. (G.)—Foreign Secretary Eden today suggested to the House of Commons that "reports of German warship movements eastward in the Mediterranean should be received with great reserve," and authorized sources said the British Government held assurances that neither Germany nor Italy would take any individual naval action against the Spanish Government.

The House prepared for a full-dress debate on foreign affairs tomorrow. Eden assured members that official information received by the Admiralty did not confirm German shipments. He was equally skeptical of advices that many thousand Italian soldiers were landed last week-end at the insurgent port of Malaga.

As reports continued to be published that Germany sent more naval craft into the Mediterranean, the Admiralty, directing the largest fleet in the world, remained silent as to disposition of Britain's naval strength around Spain. Its spokesmen also discounted the reported movement of German and Italian fleets in the Mediterranean.

Authoritative sources said Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson had advised Germany that Britain would "regard most seriously" any hostile action against the Spanish Government in retaliation for the alleged submarine attack against the German cruiser Leipzig.

It was following the asserted attack that Germany and Italy left the four-power naval patrol of Spanish coasts in protest against the refusal of Britain and France to stage a naval demonstration off the port of Valencia.

Possibility was seen tomorrow's debate might produce a statement on the Government's policy toward the European-Spanish situation.

The full non-intervention committee will meet tomorrow to consider steps to close the gaps in its four-power patrol of Spanish coasts left by the withdrawal of Italy and Germany.

Eden assured the House, in a written reply to a question, that Great Britain would negotiate no agreement with Germany inconsistent with London's commitments to the League of Nations' aid to France.

cut telephone lines, and stoned overseers' homes.

MOB FIRED ON

A lorry carrying armed volunteers broke through the strikers who rushed to the plantation. Volunteers fired on the mob, wounding two slightly.

Oil and sugar production was still tied up by the strikes. Employers in many cases asked employees to return to work today pending negotiations, but were met with flat refusals as workers demanded wage increases and shorter working hours. Sailors and marines of the cruisers H.M.S. Ajax and H.M.S. Exeter patrolled Port of Spain and the oil territories, to prevent recurrence of the riots in which fourteen have been killed since Saturday.

Uriah Butler, native labor organizer, was still hunted tonight for the part he played in organizing the strikes. Rioting on Saturday when police arrived to arrest Butler resulted in death of two policemen. Butler fled during the riot.

Striking laborers also wanted Butler to advise them in negotiations with their employers. Native refinery laborers, paid 7 cents hourly, refused to accept 9 cents. They demand 12 cents per hour, and in some cases a forty-eight-hour week instead of the present fifty-four-hour one.

BATTERIES TO BE LED TO BARRACKS

Coast Defence Units to Attend Summer Camp at Fort Macaulay—Church Parade Sunday

Coast defence batteries will be led to camp at Fort Macaulay, Esquimalt, on Saturday morning by Lieut.-Col. M. A. Kent. Assembly parade will be held at 10 o'clock to work out details of camp organization. Over fifty officers and 300 men are expected to attend the Summer camp.

Batteries to be represented are the 55th, Major B. R. Ker; 56th, Major Vincent McKenna; 60th, Major R. E. A. Diespecker; Anti-Aircraft, Major George Paulin, together with the 11th Fortress Signals, Major Gwynn, and the Company of Fortress Engineers, Captain MacIntosh.

A church parade will be held on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock under Captain the Rev. Alan Gardiner. Units and members of the permanent staff at Work Point Barracks will also attend.

ARCHBISHOPS CAN SEE GOOD IN LAW

the responsibility of seeming to promote legislation which was inconsistent with the church's principles for its own members and its standard for the good of the whole community.

The Archbishop criticized "hotel bill" marriages.

Adultery, he said, was being treated with a levity "really shocking to any sort of moral sense." This reached its extreme position in what was known as "these hotel bill cases" in which parties wishing to live together make an arrangement by which a single act of adultery is committed.

CLAIMED MERE FORM

"It is sometimes claimed," the Archbishop went on, "that the act has been a mere form with no actual adultery in fact taking place, but it was necessary to so represent to the court and, on false representation, a marriage is dissolved.

"It is to me astonishing that men otherwise honorable could have recourse to such a device." This could only be described as a sort of "constructive perjury," he said. "It is in itself a flagrant contempt for the very first principles of truth."

The bill before the House, he said, aims at strengthening the courts and detection and prevention of such collusion.

The Archbishop said he could not support inclusion of insanity among grounds for divorce. Insanity, he said, was not a fault but a misfortune of the persons concerned.

BELIEVED DESIRABLE

The Archbishop of York said he believed the bill was desirable, but thought it inappropriate for an occupant of the Bishop's Bench to vote for it. He thought the bill would relieve damage to public morals.

Zoning Board of Appeal Meets to Consider Cases

Plans and specifications to convert a dwelling at 1325 Stanley Avenue into a three-suite apartment building were approved by the zoning board of appeal during a meeting in the City Hall committee room yesterday afternoon. J. M. Armstrong presided.

An appeal of Mrs. W. H. Steele to operate a tea-room as a home industry at 332 Douglas Street was granted.

Another appeal to alter a residence at 1735 Kings Road was tabled until the next meeting.

Scorching Heat Wave Moves to Lakes Area Taking Toll of Dead

Central States Swelter in Highest Temperatures On Record for June—Alaska Fears Floods From Melting Glacial Ice

CHICAGO, June 24 (P).—A heat wave spread from the plains of Texas to the Great Lakes today, accounting for at least thirteen deaths and establishing new record June temperatures at many points.

Six of the deaths were in Chicago, where thermometers climbed to 97 degrees. In ten hours the temperature ascended 27 degrees to set a new June 24 record. The old record, 93, was established in 1923.

Shenandoah, Iowa, sweltered under a record high of 107. Des Moines reported 99.

Readings near or beyond the 100 degree mark were numerous. In Oklahoma, Hollis reported 105. Lawton 104 and Ponca City and El Reno, 102.

RAINS IN ALASKA

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, June 24 (P).—Heavy rains and melting glacial ice interrupted interior Alaska highway travel tonight, caused flood conditions at Nenana and speeded progress of the famed Black Rapids Glacier.

After a violent thunderstorm with nearly two inches of rain, the glacier moved 200 feet in twenty-four hours. Observers said it has approached within three-fourths of a mile of the Black Rapids Roadhouse, with the Big Delta River intervening.

If the ice mass advances to the river, the swift current is counted upon to wash away the ice as it moves forward. Some concern was felt regarding lakes now formed on the glacier's surface. Pilots who observed the lakes from the air said they might cause a flood should they break suddenly.

Flood waters of the Tanana River at the Richardson Highway crossing temporarily interrupted highway travel from Fairbanks to Big Delta.

At the town of Nenana, the Tanana River was within six inches of the stage reached during last spring's flood. Water covered half the townsite, but the business district remained dry.

who wish to remain on strike certainly are entitled to do so.

"I look to you (the Adjutant-General) to see that this order is carried out with fidelity, calmness, impartiality and firmness."

WAIT NEXT MOVE

The immediate action in Youngstown was: What will this mean? The first step, it was learned authoritatively, will be a meeting at Youngstown tomorrow morning. Present will be representatives of the two steel companies, law enforcement groups, Trumbull County officials and the National Guard.

The meeting will seek to determine what shall be done.

REJECT MAIN PLAN

CLEVELAND, June 24 (P).—President Roosevelt's steel mediation board disclosed tonight four strike-affected steel companies had rejected a "proposal" that union elections be held in their plants to decide the contract issue.

It suggested that company and union executives meet with the board in a "man-to-man discussion" as the only means of settling the strike.

As the board made the plea, martial law was lifted in Johnstown, Pa., where the Cambria Works of Bethlehem Steel Corporation has been strikebound for a week, and the bitter battle between strikers and non-strikers gave every indication of being resumed tomorrow.

MEDIATOR'S PROPOSAL

Under the mediator's proposal, the Committee for Industrial Organization steel union and the four independent steel companies would sign an agreement "to become effective only if the union wins an election."

First, the twenty-nine-day-old strike would be called off. The 100,000 idle men in seven states would return to work.

Then, a secret ballot would be held in the plants of Republic, Bethlehem, Inland and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Companies, "the agreement to go into effect if the union wins and to be torn up if the union loses."

The board urged the antagonists "either to accept the terms of settlement which we have proposed or to work out other terms by mutual agreement in joint conference."

The mediators said they felt the only hope of settlement lay in such a joint meeting to allay "the bitterness and suspicion which separate the two sides."

FINAL CONFERENCE

Steel executives left what they described the "final" conference with the mediation board as a C.I.O. spokesman offered to accept the President as arbiter in the strike.

Quitting the conference, the steel officials did not say whether peace negotiations had broken down completely.

New tension spread along the Johnstown, Pa., front tonight when Governor George H. Earle ordered martial law lifted in the strike-embattled area, effective at 7 a.m. tomorrow.

The governor said the Johnstown mills, shut down last Sunday when 450 state police and highway patrolmen marched into the trouble zone, may re-open at 7 a.m., and that the order for maintenance of the status quo—as requested by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, would be rescinded.

Immediately, James Mark, C.I.O. strike leader at Bethlehem Steel's big Cambria works, said the union "will resist to the best of our ability" any attempt to reopen the mills tomorrow.

EXECUTIVES' STATEMENT

The steel executives issued a joint four-company statement, declaring: "In the present case, the C.I.O. is not satisfactory to us as a contracting party, and we have the lawful and moral right and duty to stop there."

"The C.I.O. is totally irresponsible. Such a contract could mean nothing insofar as it is concerned. It would not create, and it is not intended by the C.I.O. to create, any

Huge Display by Schools Is to Be Held Here Today

VICTORIA School Board's display - postponed athletic display will be held in Royal Athletic Park at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, according to George H. Deane, municipal inspector, and Major A. C. Hinton, supervisor of physical training. Nearly 3,700 public school and Victoria High School students will participate in the event, sponsored by the school board as the city's seventy-fifth anniversary of incorporation.

obligation that could be enforced against the C.I.O."

Mayor Lionel Evans, of Youngstown, wired President Roosevelt, asking him to use national guardsmen to re-open strike-shut mills.

"BACK TO WORK"

A "back-to-work" movement in Youngstown gained new impetus today, following its collapse when national guardsmen marched into the valley to maintain the status quo. The Mahoning Valley Citizens' Committee, in a letter to Governor Davey, decried the use of troops to keep the mills shut and urged the governor to have the troops protect the "back-to-work" project.

At Warren, O., where C.I.O. leaders abandoned plans for a general sympathy strike—to protest a picket-restraining court order and the use of troops in conveying non-strikers to and from struck steel plants—more than 1,000 wage earners were idle as a result of production curtailment.

OPENS ARGUMENT IN MARKETING APPEAL

VANCOUVER, June 24 (P).—Senator J. W. de B. Farris appeared in Appeal Court today for the British Columbia Government to appeal Mr. Justice Manson's recent decision, holding the British Columbia Marketing Act of 1934, and its 1936 amendments, ultra vires. Senator Farris had not completed his argument when court was adjourned to tomorrow.

"Well, Donald, and how did ye like London?"

Treasure Hulk Proved Pile of Water-Logged Boards

NEW YORK, June 24 (P).—The year-long quest of Captain Simon Lake, submarine inventor, for $4,800,000 in British gold at the bottom of the East River ended today, without the gold.

The hulk which the seventy-year-old seaman was certain marked the site where the gold-laden British frigate, Hussar, sank during the revolutionary war turned out to be a pile of old water-logged boards.

HELPED OUT DEPRESSION

Construction of Emergency Landing Fields Justified by Economic Conditions

OTTAWA, June 24 (P).—One of the most valuable results of measures adopted to meet the economic depression was the construction of a series of 100 emergency landing fields across Canada, declared Transport Minister C. D. Howe, addressing a luncheon meeting today of the Canadian Medical Association. The Minister doubted if such a gigantic work would have been attempted by any Government under ordinary circumstances.

The result was that landing fields were now available at intervals of not more than fifty miles between Vancouver and Halifax and would be completed ready for use by Autumn.

Mr. Howe reminded his listeners of the value to the medical profession of quick transportation without loss of valuable time, and recalled the use of aviation since its earliest stages by doctors personally and for the delivery of serums and medical supplies.

Mr. Howe said first stages in development of the North Atlantic stage of the air route around the world were being pioneered today by a Pan-American flying boat making the flight from New York to Shediac, N.B., and return.

The Minister expressed confidence that within a year it would be possible to travel from Vancouver to London within forty-eight hours and from Montreal to London in twenty-four hours.

SIR JAMES BARRIE IS BURIED IN SCOTLAND

KIRRIEMUIR, Forfarshire, Scotland, June 24 (P).—Sir James Barrie, the creator of "Peter Pan," was buried today in this little weaving village—the "Thrum" of his Scottish tales—where he was born seventy-seven years ago.

At the village gates 300 school children who had been taught to regard Sir James as the fairy godfather of all children, met the coffin. Also there was eighty-seven-year-old Alexander Lowson, schoolmate and lifelong friend of Barrie.

COMMISSIONER CLOSES VISIT

Rev. E. J. Springett Speaks On "The Coronation and Bible Prophecy"

Rev. E. J. Springett, British-Israel commissioner for Canada, brought his visit to Victoria to a close when he addressed a large audience on Wednesday night in the First Baptist Church on "The Coronation and Bible Prophecy."

Mr. Springett said that never in the Coronation of the English kings had there been such a ceremony, not only on account of its splendour, but because it took place amid the nation and company of nations, including, as it did, representatives from every Dominion overseas, with the United States of America, in God's House, the Church of St. Peter, which was not consecrated Westminster Abbey until the Stone, which Jacob declared was the House of God (Genesis xxviii, 22) was brought from Scotland by Edward the First to the Abbey in 1296.

PROPHECY FULFILLED

The speaker stated it was also the definite fulfilment of prophecy as spoken by our Lord in St. Matthew xxiv, 14, "that the Kingdom Message should be preached unto all nations in the last days," which was made possible by the broadcast of the ceremony throughout the world, each nation hearing it in its own language, which had not been since the Day of Pentecost, 1900 years ago.

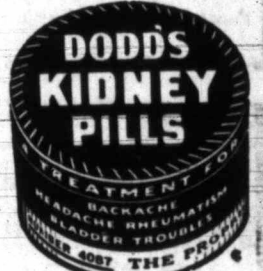

In tracing the Coronation ceremony, Mr. Springett pointed out that "the anointing of the King as priest came to us from the anointing of Aaron as God's high priest, and that the oil was compounded as directed in the Book of Genesis."

Mr. Springett also laid emphasis on the presentation to the King of the Holy Bible, the most valuable thing that this world affords."

Later, in a talk with Mr. Springett, he remarked on the amazing fact that at our Lord's first coming the two women concerned with it were His Mother, Mary, and St. John the Baptist's mother, Elizabeth, and that in the last days of which He spoke the names of the first ladies in the land are Mary and Elizabeth.

FRIENDLY VICTORIA

With the tourist season opening, and a more permanent influx of intending settlers from Prairie and other points, Victoria must look to her laurels as not only the Garden City of Canada, but the most courteous one. Strictly speaking, there are three Victorias. The first Victoria is the city as citizens know it to be. The second Victoria is the city that has been built up by publicity at home and abroad. The third Victoria (and this is where the shoe pinches a trifle) is the Victoria that a stranger sees and senses when he, or she, spends a vacation here of more or less duration. Never a day passes by but that Victoria in its third meaning is on trial before the bar of public opinion. Hence, it is distinctly worth noting when some people say, as, indeed, they do, that Victoria is "unfriendly." There is a vast difference between fussing and fussing over a visitor on the one hand, and in being cold, aloof and unfriendly on the other. Both extremes would be in poor taste, and both would be quite out of keeping with the real Victoria as citizens know it.

Now, what is the duty of a citizen to a stranger within our gates? Obviously the stranger is entitled to courtesy, and that he receives this no one will seriously deny. Next, a stranger is entitled to have someone set out for him a resident's knowledge of where to go and what to do while in Victoria. After all, that is merely setting the best goods in the front window. Also, perhaps, a stranger would be grateful for a kindly word and a smile, on occasion. There is no one so alone as a person away from home, even while holidaying in a strange city, and perhaps a strange land. Back of it all should rest a genuine pride in the community. If citizens are proud of Victoria, then it becomes a very small labor to stop long enough in the day's round to direct and counsel a stranger. The most difficult part of having a reputation is in sustaining it. Nothing could kill Victoria's future opportunities so quickly as the charge that the community is unfriendly. This is a personal matter, with each and every citizen. It is part of the civic duty. It will pay to remember that Victoria has nothing for which to apologize; nothing that requires boasting about; and, surest of all, nothing to lose by being frank, open and friendly with those who come from afar to pay her homage.

PROTESTANTISM IN GERMANY

At the moment the conflict between the Third Reich of Germany and the Churches has shifted from the Catholic to the Protestant front. The Nazi Government is bringing heavy pressure to bear upon the Confessional Synod, the body that separated itself from the National Church in 1934 in protest against the Government's effort to make the church the organ of National Socialism. Against this the Synod's members have borne consistent testimony. A fortnight ago the pastors read a manifesto charging the Nazi regime with "systematically undertaking to de-Christianize the coming generation." It aims "to promote a faith in a God without Christ," and an education founded "not on the Bible, but on myths." As evidence of the anti-Christian character of the education, the following variant of the Apostles' Creed is being taught, according to 'The Manchester Guardian,' in the "German Article of Faith," in the elementary schools: "I believe in Germany, God's other beloved son, of himself, conceived under the northern sky, suffered under Papist and Mammonists"—and more of this sort.

The adherents of the historic creeds have suffered for their faith. All five members of the Synod's executive were recently imprisoned by the secret police. Other pastors are being held in "home custody." Dr. Niemoller, Berlin's best-known preacher, and Dr. Dibelius, the Synod's superintendent, have been barred from attending the forthcoming Oxford Congress, and Pastor Hesse from representing the Confessional Church at the World Reformed Alliance in Montreal next month. A recent regulation bars any offerings being taken in the churches except for prescribed purposes. This will cut off support of the seminaries for training the Synod's own ministry and prohibit assistance being given to imprisoned pastors.

SOVIET AVIATION DEVELOPMENT

Soviet Russia has come to be regarded as a land of propaganda. So much of the information coming out of the country is politically inspired that it is next to impossible to determine what is factual and what has been designed for foreign consumption to win friends, arouse jealousies and improve Soviet prestige. Some visitors return home enthusiastic about the economic system of the republic others paint dark pictures of conditions. Some think the Communist system should be universal; some think it all right for the Russians, and others are convinced that it can never be successful in Russia or anywhere else. Probably only history will tell after it has been wholly made.

From time to time there are happenings of which there can be no doubt, and which throw some reliable light upon one or another phase of conditions and development. Most recent of these is the spectacular and able flight of three Soviet airmen from Moscow to the United States. Reports of other daring, yet successful, flights into the polar regions showed the Russians capable in the field of aviation. The flight which ended on Sunday at Vancouver, Washington, furnished the world with further evidence of the Soviet air development. It raised the prestige of Russia in matters related to aviation in a way that no amount of high-pressure propaganda could ever accomplish. If other nations were skeptical of the value of her air force, known to be vast, they will have to revise their opinions in the light of recent demonstrations.

EXTRAORDINARY LEGISLATION

Various pieces of legislation put through the Alberta Legislature by the Social Credit Government of Premier Aberhart have aroused a storm of public indignation. The latest storm in the neighboring Province centres on legislation which, in effect, permits Members of the Legislature to draw up to $450 in advance of their next sessional indemnity. By virtue of the "Sessional Indemnity Advances Act, 1937," the Government undertakes to guarantee any loan obtained by a Member of the Legislature on his next sessional indemnity, up to $450. Should a Member fail to attend the next session, the $450 or less will be paid by the Government as a "compensation." One leading citizen of Alberta says, in comment: "It seems quite evident that the Social Credit Members are bent on protecting themselves even to the extent of using the shattered credit of the Province to secure an advance payment of indemnities." Another declares: "Just an example of how this Social Credit Government uses Social Credit for its own personal benefit." Other outbursts are much less complimentary. It is, indeed, an extraordinary piece of legislation.

After five years of experiments with a new fuel mixture of pulverized coal and crude oil, carried out by a Tyneside firm in conjunction with the Cunard Steamship Company, tests have now been completed. The new colloidal fuel, a mixture of 60 per cent crude oil and 40 per cent pulverized coal, may be adopted as the principal method of firing ships in the British Navy and the mercantile service, says Industrial Britain. The new fuel, it is recorded, gives the same results as oil fuel, although it is appreciably cheaper. Consistently good results have been obtained from the experiments, and if the production of colloidal fuel in large quantities is undertaken it will mean a great deal to the coal industry in Great Britain. Vancouver Island operators should be watching the outcome with interest.

June, being the month of weddings, it is interesting to note that half the world's brides are said to be married with wedding rings made in Birmingham, where some of the firms in the trade have been in existence since the eighteenth century. A hundred years ago wedding rings were made narrow as they are today, and gradually they became wider, until fifty years later, no ring was acceptable unless it was broad and heavy. The pendulum has swung back again to the present fashion for abnormally narrow and light rings, although there is a tendency to revert to heavier rings.

The beginnings of Berlin are shaded in the mist of antiquity, but the earliest record referring to the now German capital dates back to 137. The authorities, therefore, have decided upon that year as "foundation year," and are now preparing to celebrate the 700th birthday of the city. August 14 to 22 has been set as the period of celebration.

REASON VS. SYMPATHY

But it is one thing to recognize that the money given to the beggar will probably cater to his weakness for drink or idleness, and quite another to achieve that firmness of character which is needed to refuse the appeal. Always there is just the suspicion that it is no great fun to sleep in ditches and to go hungry from time to time. The "hobo," with all his imperfections on his head, his drunkenness, dirt and mendacity, is hardly a person to be envied, and the average man, admitting the folly of his generosity, prefers to give rather than to refuse. Reason is no match for sympathy.—Cape Argus.

By Sandham Graves

This is a story of co-operation. Four landlubbers rented a launch for the day, to go on a picnic. One of them understood engines, so they had no difficulty on that score. The morning was spent in a pleasant cruise to an island ten miles off the coast, where, on arrival at midday, the party beached the boat and had lunch. Presently the tide began to ebb. Bit by bit the water receded from the hull of the launch, which finally keeled over and lay on its side on the bare sand. The afternoon wore on in clam-digging, fishing and swimming, and an excellent time was enjoyed by all. At five o'clock in the afternoon the landlubbers thought it was time to set about returning to their home port. At that time the launch was high and dry on the beach, and the water was a quarter of a mile away. Gravely the four men considered their dilemma. One thought the thing to be done was to prop the launch upright with stakes and push it that way down the beach and into the water. Another had heard about placing rollers under the keel, and said that was the way. A third was sure that nothing but the return of the tide would refloat the boat. The fourth man listened to them argue for an hour, and then proposed that they try each method in turn. Well, propping the boat up with stakes and pushing the keel through the bare sand did not work. Placing rollers under the keel and pushing the upright boat gained them a few yards, but obviously would not span the quarter-mile. But all these methods together with the return of the tide did float the boat. It seems each of the three men had known part of the remedy, and the fourth man had heard about co-operation.

It is a pleasure to record that probably the last soldier has "returned" from the Great War. Yes, he got back the other day to his home town in Austria, after having been twenty-three years on the road. A private in the Austrian army at the outbreak of hostilities on August 4, 1914, Josef Maier was taken prisoner by Russian troops on the Eastern front in October, 1914. For three years he was held a prisoner of war, and for the last twenty years he and two Austrian companions had been trying to get home again. In August, 1936, Maier and his companions crossed the Russian border into Poland surreptitiously, and from that point the three men made their way home across Poland and Germany to Austria. For Maier—that was a twenty-three year war, and he is justly entitled to be called a "returned soldier." To say so is not to challenge in the slightest the valor of the men who have everywhere, claims which this column has upheld in season and out. However, the daddy of all returned veterans must surely be Josef Maier. Here's hoping that he succeeds in re-establishing himself successfully in his native Austrian village. Twenty-three years is a long, long war.

People like to cry for amusement.

That is strange, but true. Almost any stage or screen production will bear witness to the fact that the public has ready sympathies to offer to the poor, distressed or otherwise afflicted characters on the stage or screen. They see the characters getting into all kinds of trouble unaware that the troubles are the dramatist's tale. The more sensitive the audience the more will it reach for a handkerchief at the proper moment; only to blow its corporate nose, of course. Curious is it how much attention the human nose requires during some dramas. Let it be thought a weakness or a crime to sympathize with actors in distress (though momentarily well paid for it) let it be said that feeling is a hallmark of breeding, and sensitive people are among the very best the world has to offer. Proof of all this, should anything so obvious require proving, came last week in Great Britain, where a revival of "East Lynne," the weeping play of the previous century, was produced over the air. Homes of the United Kingdom had a sudden accession of nose trouble right away. Handkerchiefs were never more in demand. Some people gave up all pretence and wept openly. Universally they remarked afterwards: "It was lovely." All of which goes to show that a famous French dramatist was right when he counselled playwrights to "Make them laugh, make them cry, make them live." For life is made up of tears and laughter, and no doubt, both emotions are very close to the same thing.

A serious-minded person, not entirely free from the charge of knowing how fly-papers are manufactured, has figured it out that a lady fly can and does raise the stupendous total of 5,598,720,000,000 baby flies between May 1 and September 30 each year. This adds the statistician is the equivalent of 17,673,000 miles of flies; and would want 17,673,000 miles of flies? It gives one a new respect for a fly-swatter.

GOLD AND COMMODITY PRICES

Sir,—Quoth the judge: "A mine is a hole in the ground; the owner thereof a liar! No further proof is required." I find for the plaintiff shareholder. And so endeth just another swindle perpetrated on an all-too-trusting or greedy public by the directors of a company immune in the law in that they have paid a fee to the Government for incorporated protection. By all means protect the shareholder from personal liability; but why protect the directors of any company?

Another sin for gold: All the financial and economic experts in the world, working in perfect unison, will never alter the fact that "supply and demand" under open competitive conditions, with legislatively regulated and strictly enforced maximum prices on the sale of all necessary commodities, is all the greater majority of consumers ever did or ever will require, depressions to the contrary notwithstanding.

Here is about as slippery a supposition as any expert ever did or will foist upon the above-mentioned public, i.e.: "Devaluing of the currency dollar raises the price of gold, which is the standard of all value." The standard of all value is, of course, the cost of manufacture or production of supply in demand. Any supply, including gold, not in demand, is valueless, temporarily or permanently, either in internal or external trading.

We, the too trusting people of Victoria, are mostly concerned in internal trading, albeit we live in the most costly city on the continent, and so we discover the price of commodity today when gold is worth $35 an ounce, as compared to the price of like commodity when gold was only worth $20 an ounce, though the price has risen, unaccountably, it is not at all in the proportion that is not in any way tend to uphold the aforementioned slippery supposition. Nor could it ever be so, for the reason that if you continue to raise the price of gold, in the manner the expert suggests, to $101 an ounce, the thus devalued currency dollar is exactly equal to the "hole" in the proverbial doughnut; and by the way, the stable part of the doughnut costs more proportionately to buy when gold was at $20 an ounce. And further, were the theory expounded by the expert correct it would undoubtedly give the following values decreased in the following proportions: "When gold was at $20, a dollar actually did buy 19c in Victoria; 24c in Vancouver; 32c in Seattle; then in the devaluing process to price gold at $35, the currency dollar in Victoria should now buy 19c in Victoria, 24c in Vancouver, 13 plus cents; in Seattle, 18 plus cents; and this, as previously shown with respect to commodity price proportions in Victoria, is all wrong.

However, when the world's greatest creditor nation safely elevates the great gold to the position of world dictator, it surely makes all other dictators, such as Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini, look like the proverbial "Nickle's worth of dog meat" in comparison, does it not?

In this most enviable of all positions gold undoubtedly is the standard of all earthly value, almost priceless in its international power, yet affecting any currency little, and none at all in internal trading; and though the expert says we need have no fear of the gold price falling, and rightly so; he might better have said, nor any fear whatsoever of a world war. So all by and which as we now view the world's progress and events, Canada is right now about the best and safest land to reside in; and should the big Eastern interests only be shown they must play cricket with us, our little Vancouver Island would easily be the best bet in Canada today.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of June 25, 1887)

Supplementary Estimates.—The supplementary estimates of Canada for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1887, show $1,635 for harbors and rivers in British Columbia, $760 for the Columbia River, and $775 for the removal of snags in Nicola River. To meet the cost of the day was exploration in connection with the black cod fishing during 1886-87, $5,000 was appropriated. The estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1888, show the following for public buildings: New Westminster public building, $10,000; the second British Columbia penitentiary, introduction of $24,000; general repairs and improvements, public buildings, British Columbia, $5,000; Nanaimo post office, etc., lighting with gas, $100; increased safe accommodation in connection with Assistant Receiver-General's office, Victoria, revote of $5,000; total, $11,700.

At the Driving Park—There was a large attendance at the driving park yesterday, and the races proved very interesting. The first race for running horses, two-year-olds, was won by Black's Walrusman. The entries were: Walrusman, May's Estancia, Erickson's Ben and Lassie's Mollie. The second race was a running race free for all, won by Bryant's Irish Maid. The only other entry being McCarty's Billy. In the third race for three-minute horses, there were Custer's Kitty, Talby's Island Belle and David's Donna. The race was won by Island Belle.

The Weather—Yesterday was most unpleasant, a high wind prevailing and dust stirring in all directions. It was a marked contrast to Wednesday, one of the most pleasant days of the year.

The Observation Car

By THE EDITORIAL STAFF

There has come this way, by the usual channels, a story which it is hard to believe. It had to do with a woman, somewhere in the East, who had only one spare button for her husband's two shirts, and had to switch them from one to the other as the occasion demanded. Since this was told at a church gathering, one would be bold to impute its veracity. But it is a hard case, for there is a deep affinity between women and buttons. They save them as a miser saves his money, and if you investigate you will find sundry collections of buttons with pieces of string or stubs of last year's pencils. You have never heard of a woman throwing away a button, and, presumably, if you did you would not be surprised to hear of her being an unthrifty wife, or a gadabout. . . . A friendly scribe who gazes over my shoulder as these lines are written now wants to know why we have buttons on the cuffs of men's suits, or at the back of morning coats, worn by more important politicians the day the Legislature opens, and why shirts always come home from the laundry without any. That, however, is too vast a subject.—B.G.

Wandering Minstrel

Just received another lengthy epistle from our old friend, William Joseph Carter, perhaps better known to Victorians as "The Wandering Minstrel," who has been travelling rather extensively in "Merrie Old England" for the past few months. "Old Bill" enclosed a picture of himself rigged out in full Western attire. He found he made a better drawing card by looking as though he had just come from the wild and woolly prairies. In the picture, which was mailed from Southend-on-Sea, he is sporting a big black sombrero, red kerchief around his neck, and a very loud checked shirt. However, the most striking part of his get-up is a pair of chaps, apparently made from sheepskin. They have sagged a bit and come only half-way up his legs; nevertheless, we'll bet the little English laddies crowd about him longing to hear stories of gaudy-painted Indians and buffaloes.—W.F.P.

Glancing Over Sport

Do you know that Ray Aroel, who was in Jim Braddock's corner the other night when Louis flattened him after eight rounds to take the heavyweight light crown, was also in "Gene Tunney's" corner in his second round of his fight with Jack Dempsey? He was with Braddock when the Irishman took the title from Max Baer two years ago. . . . If I pick them right I have to take it on the chin, verbally, anyhow. They say I was mighty lucky when I layed with Louis to take the Irishman into camp via the knockout route within eight rounds. . . . Poor old Connie Mack and his Athletics took quite a while to do it, but finally achieved the accomplishment. Remember early in the season the Athletics set a merry pace and were right up with the leaders, and now they are in the cellar for the first time since the campaign opened. . . . That course at Carnoustie, Scotland, where the British open golf championship will be played next month, is 8,000 yards long, and par for the layout is 78. It will be mighty interesting to see how Guldahl, Nelson, Smith, Picard and other members of the U.S. Ryder Cup team will score on this very difficult course. And also the mystery man of all golf, John Montague, of California. Montague is said to be one of the best shotmakers in the business, but he always keeps his golfing ability a close secret. . . . They are asking me already who is going to win the Louis-Schmeling fight, if they ever meet. Louis, by a knockout, in less time than it took him to finish Braddock.—J.D.

Soccer Gossip

Norman Stewardson, brilliant young goalie of Spencer's soccer team, played football with Sam Bartram, colorful netminder of the touring Charlton Athletic Club, when they were schoolboys chums in the Old Country. Bartram joined the "wonder team" of the English League three seasons ago and has been with them ever since. During the visit here of the Englishmen, Bartram and Stewardson spent many happy moments recalling those carefree boyhood days. . . . Victoria City will open their bid for the Comnaught Cup, Saturday, at MacDonald Park, when they stack up against the New Westminster Royals, Canadian soccer champions. On the visiting line-up will be George Leggett, Sanich Thistles player, who has been re-

TAKE THE HEAT ON HIGH
(or Keep In High Gear This Summer)

When the heat comes, some people, like old cars, can't make the grade—they have to slip into "second" or into "low." The heat slows them, saps their "horse-power." Why can't a youngster of almost 80, who, judged by conventional standards, should be on the scrap heap, drive in high through the hottest summer, defying Mr. Sol, just as in winter I scorn Mr. Zero? The answer is foods. People give no thought at all to the foods they ought to eat, only the foods they like. They follow the herd. Herd intelligence is notably no intelligence at all.

If people would really think, they would realize that bodily health depends upon the blood that feeds the body cells. The blood depends upon the kind of foods which build the blood. Therefore, the kind of blood that flows through our bodies can make us shrivel and shiver on cold days and wilt and wither on hot days. The cause of both is viscid, ropy, toxic blood, derived from denatured, dead, demineralized, constipating foods.

Here is how to prove me right or wrong. During the hot spell, make your breakfast of Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy or Lishus, all you can enjoy with milk or cream, raisins or chopped dates, not body-heating sugar. Make thick enough to chew thoroughly. If hot cereal is not liked, cook any of them the previous night, allow to cool, place in refrigerator and serve for breakfast, with sliced or canned peaches, ripe bananas, fruit jelly, preserve, or honey with cream or milk. Drink iced Kofy-Sub, sweetened with brown sugar, or preferably honey, added while hot, a very delightful and healthy beverage. For noon meal a salad of fresh fruit or raw vegetables, iced Kofy-Sub. For evening meal, a large fruit or vegetable salad, sprinkled with grated nuts, gratified cheese or cottage cheese, or lightly steamed vegetables if salads are not liked, as second choice. Any kind of juicy fruit for dessert. Iced Kofy-Sub or hot Kofy-Sub if hot drink is preferred.

Train the intestines to eliminate after each meal. It is of utmost importance to exercise all groups of muscles briskly, fifteen or twenty minutes daily, to the point of deep breathing, to burn up internal poisons waste. If you do not know how, send fifty cents for my book "SYSTEMATIZED

What Today Means

"CANCER"

If June 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., from 8:30 to 8:30 p.m., and from 10:30 p.m. until midnight.

It might be well to remember that there are two sides to every story, before forming any conclusion regarding any told to you this day. Do not put off until the last minute any request you may have to make of a business man or woman, for the chances are they are going to be extremely busy. It might be wise not to make social calls this day before finding out if your visit will interfere with previously-made plans. This is not an auspicious day on which to try springing any sort of surprise, so be careful in this respect. Beware of undertaking anything of a hazardous nature, particularly where there might be a chance of injury to bones or limbs. Married, and engaged couples, as well as those seriously in love, must avoid controversial subjects, because tempers are likely to be easily lost in arguments this day.

If a woman, and June 25 is your birthday, you may be a very practical idealist. You have many visionary ideas, but you do not try to put them into practice. You are cautious when money is involved, and very venturesome when you have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Your dictation ought to be excellent, and your conversational powers above par. A fluent tongue perhaps will enable you to make money, as well as gain in popularity. Your one weakness may be a tendency to indulge in too much flattery, which might make people question your sincerity. You may have every qualification to become a successful writer, teacher, artist, musician, sales executive, secretary, actress or public stenographer. You will have it in your power to make the man you marry very happy, and in return have your full share of felicity.

The child born on June 25, usually in its early teens gives ample evidence of possessing an amount of versatility that argues well for a successful career.

If a man, and June 25 is your natal day, you should know how to make good use of authority. You have probably a great deal of personal magnetism. As a doctor, lawyer, restaurateur, engineer, chemist, journalist or theatrical man you may gain an enviable reputation.

Prime Minister Goes Down Seine

PARIS, June 24 (CP-Havas).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice, made a "world tour" down the Seine River today aboard the "flagship" of the Paris Exposition's "fleet."

They spent the afternoon at the world fair, accompanied by Philippe Roy, Canadian minister to Paris, and Senator C. P. Beaulieu.

Friends at the club were complimenting the prime minister on his having been in a stooping posture at the time he bowed to the crowd during an election riot.

"You see," remarked the judge, dryly, "had I been an upright judge, it might have been serious."

TUNEFUL OPERA MUCH ENJOYED

Catholic Young People Present "Bits o' Blarney" at St. Ann's Auditorium

Tuneful, bright, witty and overflowing with youthful spirits was "Bits o' Blarney," the two-act comic opera presented by the Young People's Club of St. Ann's Cathedral last night at St. Ann's Academy. The auditorium was crowded with an appreciative audience that enjoyed and applauded the many well-sung melodies by soloists, duetists and choruses.

Written by Otis M. Carrington, the opera is sufficiently modern to use the telephone as part of its stage device, but the theme is the age-old one, via a comic instead of tragic route, that "the path of true love never runs smooth."

The story centres round the much-admired colleen, Peggy, and her shy adorer, Patrick, who seems, at the rise of the curtain, to be making but indifferent impression on the popular Peggy. So Pat takes into his confidence Mike O'Noole, a merry old man who devises a plan to bring the young couple together. This consists of a double disguise, whereby Pat masquerades as O'Noole's niece, Margery, and Peggy as her own brother, a young doctor. The ruse works, for each confides in the other.

WELL CAST

Happily cast, the opera moved with infectious spirit, Roma Trudel, in the role of the popular Peggy, singing prettily; and Tom White, as her sweetheart Patrick, showing an attractive lyric tenor. The real life and soul of the comedy was Al Dunnett as the conspiring old matchmaker, Mike O'Noole. This was a fine bit of characterization, consistently light-hearted, merry and mischievous, and provoking the major part of the evening's laughter. His play in "Blind Man's Buff," his song about "Saint Patrick," and his monologue, "If we knew the other fellow," had fine technique and a comic sincerity that were delightful.

Others in the well-directed cast were Eric Moir, another of Peggy's "specials"; Wenona Scott, as Mary, who was in love with Robert; Mirah Weicker; and Beth Philippon as Rosie.

The young people who composed the chorus evidently enjoyed their work, particularly the dancing of the jig at the beginning of Act II. Their opening chorus of "Irish Charms" and other tunes were also well done.

Simple and sincere, the entertainment was highly commended by Most Rev. J. C. Cody, Bishop of Victoria, in the witty address he gave between the acts after being introduced by Jimmy Grant, a member of the Catholic Young People's Club. Mr. Grant thanked the many friends for their generous patronage and encouragement.

Special appreciation was also expressed to Rev. Father J. A. Gaudette, who conducted and directed the musical score; Mary Black, who was responsible for the casting and direction; Leonard Acres, whose orchestra not only supplied the instrumental background during the singing, but gave lively entr'acte airs; Frank MacDonald as stage manager, and Irene Bantly, prompter.

PAINS ALL OVER HIS BODY

Kruschen Made Him Feel a New Man

Read the experience of this man who had rheumatism so badly that, at times, he was prevented from working. "About 10 months ago," he writes, "I suffered terribly with rheumatism and neuritis. The pains were all over my body, and some days I could not even get up from bed to go to work. A friend visited me and suggested that I should try Kruschen Salts. I did so, the result being that the pains seemed to gradually disappear. I have been going to work ever since without a break, thanks to Kruschen Salts, and I feel a new man." "A.R."

Rheumatic conditions are frequently the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel the dissolving acid from the system. (Adv.)

Clearihue, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff and Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., for the defendant. His Honor said that it would take a little time to go into the whole of the evidence offered at the trial.

Cabinet Movements—Hon. G. S. Pearson was on the Mainland, yesterday for a few days, with plans to be back in the city on Saturday. Hon. F. M. EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Floating House—From the captain of the river steamer Wakerobin, plying up and down the Ohio during the recent flood, came the account of a strange sight performed by the raging waters at flood levels. A house on the slope above the river bank at Hamilton, Kentucky, was swept off its rock foundation and down the stream. Shortly afterward, when the waters started to subside, another house of almost exactly the same size and shape was deposited on the foundation, properly placed with front porch facing the river. Where did the house come from, and who owns it now?

CHAPTER XXIII

The next day Eden knew that her customers thought her unusually pensive and remote. Happily she had hurried out of the house that morning into a white city, knowing that she would always remember that the morning after Neil had asked her to marry him everything had been covered with snow. Now, in her white uniform, working under a strong light, she thought: "There are a thousand things to think about, but all I can think about with reason is that I'm going to marry Neil and we are going away together." Changing into her street clothes before she went to lunch, she saw her face in the mirror, seeing that a magical radiance had come to it. And all that day, a day richer than any day had ever been before, Eden hoped fervently that David would not call her, preferring not to see him until Neil returned and told him they were going to be married.

Not Eden's trousseau, which would be modest, but Dee's, exquisite and costly, began to arrive from the downtown stores. Eden and her mother and Vicky had viewed it one night with sighs of admiration, while Eden thought: "It's charged to Charles Larimore. I wouldn't like that. It doesn't seem exactly right."

The next day she lunched with Dee in the small tea room where in the past Dee had talked of Brad, and where Eden had listened with a pang of envy, wondering if she would ever meet that one man she was waiting for.

"I'm so tired," Dee said. "It'll be glad when it's over. We'll be the same good friends after I'm married, won't we, Eden? I won't let it make me a snob; marrying a rich man. And I've only one regret. Brad. I saw him downtown one day, but he didn't see me. He—he had the look of a man who didn't care what was happening to him. "He doesn't think anybody cares what happens to him," Eden said, looking over the menu. "He isn't weak. But he can't pretend."

"Charles wants to meet you because I've talked so much about you. So I've asked him to come tomorrow night to meet you and your mother. And Vicky, too, of course. We've set the date for next Wednesday. That's definite. We'll sail that night. I can't believe it. It—it doesn't seem real."

Eden nodded, thinking, "I may be getting married myself next Wednesday. It will be when Neil comes back and mother knows. 'We won't wait or plan,' he said. Neil—Wherever he was, he was thinking of her, she knew. There were no doubts, no regrets for her. There was no pretending, as Dee was pretending, that she was completely happy."

They parted on the street, and Eden walked back to the hotel, frowning a little at sunlight on snow. She glanced into windows on Charles Street, thinking she would like to be married in blue velvet. Married to Neil! There would be no snow where he took her. There would be sunlight and flowers and the blue sea. . . . She saw herself standing on the deck of a ship with the Manhattan skyline receding, standing next to Neil, looking ahead and unafraid.

After dinner that evening she found Vicky curled up in the chintz-covered chair in the bedroom, wearing the blue corduroy pyjamas again, studying shorthand.

Vicky said: "I think I ought to tell you, Eden, that I went to a movie with Brad this afternoon. I came out of school and he was in his car, waiting for a traffic light to change. He was going to bring me home, but then we decided to see a movie. I didn't think he could afford it, but he insisted. Then we went up the street and had tea and cakes, and talked a long time. He's nice. I tried to think of things to say to make him smile." Her small red mouth hardened. "You may like Dee, but I don't! He asked me to go dancing with him Saturday night, but I thought I'd better ask you."

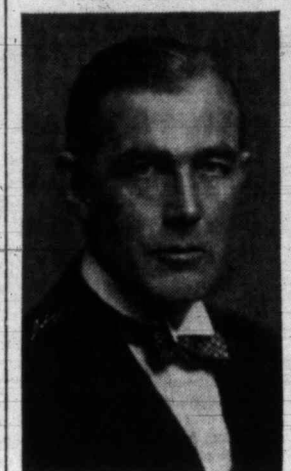

Eden did not answer at once. Brad and Vicky. . . . It was absurd to feel that Vicky was too young to go dancing with a young man. Eden had been going to dances since she was fifteen. And Brad needed the companionship of someone like her, someone young and believing. Vicky had a great faith, a deep understanding, and a quiet sympathy. Was today the beginning of something new for him? Was it the beginning of Vicky's first love? (To Be Continued)

"What did you leave your job at the Goldplated Securities for? I thought you had a good thing there."

"I thought so, too, till I'd been there a week. I was supposed to be secretary to the vice-president, but he was no vice-president at all. Why, he only took two hours and a half for lunch, and sometimes he'd stick around till four in the afternoon. I couldn't work for a man like that."

H. D. TWIGG IS MADE MANAGER

Takes Charge of Vancouver Island Staff of National Life Assurance Co.

H. D. TWIGG

H. D. Twigg, well-known Victoria barrister and former member of the British Columbia Legislature for this city was appointed this week as Vancouver Island manager for the National Life Assurance Company of Canada, with offices at 215-216 Central Building. Headquarters of the firm is at Toronto, where H. R. Bain is president and Hon. E. W. Hamber a member of the board of directors.

Since 1922, Mr. Twigg has been prominently identified with life insurance in Victoria and on Vancouver Island, joining the Great-West Life in that year and serving continuously with the same firm for the last fifteen years.

LEGISLATOR NINE YEARS
Elected in 1924 to the Sixteenth Legislature as Conservative member for Victoria, Mr. Twigg served in two Assemblies for nine years and became one of the outstanding debaters of the province. During 1932 and 1933 he acted as British Columbia organizer for the Conservative Party.

In 1936 he became organizer and secretary for the Vancouver Island Provincial Association, a post which brought him in close contact with Island communities.

This week Mr. Twigg relinquished his active connection with the Great-West Life to take over the management of the National Life Assurance Company of Canada. He will continue to reside in Victoria.

A mountain man, who rarely, if ever, visited a town of any size, drove into Statesville with his son, traveling in a discreet car. Climbing out of the car on one of the main streets, the old man appeared fascinated by the pavement. He scraped his feet on the hard surface, and turning to his son, remarked: "Well, I don't blame 'em for building a town here. The ground is too darn hard to plough, anyhow."

Popular Cross Stitch Initials

by Mayfair

MAYFAIR PATTERN No. 378

Cross-stitch initials are new and are gaining in popularity day by day. They are colorful and gay when worked in colors, yet they can be very formal when worked in one color or white. Cross-stitch, of course, is the quickest and simplest of all embroidery stitches. For your linens and personal things, you could not find a more popular or pretty decoration.

The pattern includes transfers for complete alphabets in three sizes and two different styles—3 1/4 inches—1 1/4 inches, and 1/2 inches; also transfer for "his" and "her" motifs in two sizes.

ROTARIANS SEE
FINE PICTURES

Through the medium of colored motion pictures, members of the Victoria Rotary Club, at luncheon at the Empress Hotel yesterday, were given a glimpse of portions of Central and South America, many of them taken from the air. The pictures were shown by Norman Holland, of the Brandram-Henderson Paint Company, Montreal, who is visiting in Victoria.

Mr. Holland secured the pictures while on a business trip last Summer that carried him more than 10,000 miles by air and automobile, and through thirteen countries. Mr. Holland now has approximately 50,000 flying hours to his credit in North America and Europe.

The speaker was introduced by H. J. Pendray and, at the conclusion of the pictures, was given a cordial vote of thanks. Frank I. Doherty presided at the luncheon and announced Robert Armstrong and E. H. Wilson had been elected members of the club.

Authority on Air Matters Visiting Mountain Resort

VANCOUVER, June 24.—An interesting figure in Empire aviation is now at Jasper Park Lodge with the arrival there today of H. E. Wimperia, C.B., who recently retired from the British Air Ministry. He is president of the Royal Aeronautical Society. With Mrs. Wimperia, he will spend a number of days at the mountain resort before proceeding here to catch R.M.S. Monowai for Australia. He will act in an advisory capacity there on air matters.

St. Margaret's School Has Prize Distribution

Archdeacon Nunns Gives Address at End of School Year—Cups and Prizes Awarded for Scholastic and Sports Activities

A resume of the year's activities was given by Miss Barton, headmistress of St. Margaret's School, on the occasion of the annual prize-giving last evening at the school. In addition to the usual school curriculum, keen interest had been taken in the public speaking and debating, the dramatic club, the French club, the hobbies club, folk dancing, music, swimming and riding. Nine girls were writing the Metropolitan examinations this week.

The school had won the shield for folk dancing, competing with teams on the mainland, and had also won success in the musical and drama festivals in Victoria. Next year the school would celebrate its thirtieth birthday, Miss Barton said.

She thanked the staff and the school for their co-operation and spoke with regret of those who would not be returning next term. One of the senior girls, Cynthia Yarrow, who had completed her school life at St. Margaret's, was the first daughter of a member of the Old Girls' Association who would join the group, her mother having been a former president of the Old Girls' Association.

"SERVICE WITH LOVE" Archdeacon Nunns congratulated those who had worked well and faithfully during the year, many of whom, although not prize-winner, had contributed much to the spirit of the school and had lived up to the motto, "Service With Love." He urged the girls to keep this motto in mind throughout their lives and to keep the ideal of "ploughing a straight furrow" ever before them.

He thanked Miss Barton and the staff for what they had done for the pupils and wished them even greater success.

Royal Roads School Ends Year's Work

A large number of parents and interested friends attended the annual prize-giving and closing exercises at Royal Roads School, Esquimalt, yesterday afternoon.

A delightful programme was given in the garden, which made an ideal setting for drills, dances and games. The programme opened with three songs by the school, "Here's a Health Unto His Majesty," "Royal Roads School Song" and "Canadian Boat Song." Then followed a musical drill by the seniors and juniors; songs, "French Song" and "Who Is Sylvia" by the seniors; "Slumber Boat," the juniors; folk dances, "Sage Leaf" and "Madge on a Cree," the seniors and juniors; a charming Maypole dance by the seniors and juniors, and recitations by the kindergarten, which brought forth enthusiastic applause.

The kindergarten children sang several action songs with wholehearted enthusiasm and an appealing lack of self-consciousness, and the dances, "Les Sylphides" and "Indians," by the seniors and juniors were included in the programme. The dances were directed by Miss Wynne Shaw and the accompaniments were played by Miss Rouch.

PRIZES PRESENTED

Miss Johnson, headmistress of the school, then introduced Mrs. T. A. Rickard, who very graciously, and with a few words of congratulation to each child, presented the prizes which had been won during the year. Wilson, and little Jean Peaks, dressed as a royal page, wheeled in a large decorated rose filled with gifts, for the surprised guest.

A large number of friends attended the party, and were entertained by Mrs. W. F. Drysdale, who sang solo, accompanied by Mrs. W. P. Bunt. Mrs. D. McMillan, mother of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. O. W. #### By New Patented Libby Cooking Method

YOU can't fool "educated" bean-eaters! That's why there's no mystery about the reasons Libby's Deep-Browned Beans are doing things to the appetites of bean-hungry and bean-wise people the country over. It's simply the new and exclusive cooking method developed by Libby! That's the secret of their sensational success! And here's how it's done. Libby selects only plump, sound, healthy beans in the very prime of their goodness. Then they are cooked by the new Libby process, and browned through to the very centre—every last one of them! They're not over-done or under-done—they're "done" just right. And here's what it means to you bean-lovers. You get deeper, richer colour—warm and inviting; colour that says "go" to your appetite. You get firmer, more tender texture—yet with the meaty goodness of a well-baked potato. You get finer flavour—the kind of taste enjoyment you thought had been lost forever, until Libby re-created that glorious old-time baked bean flavour.

TENNIS FINALS HELD AT SCHOOL

Prior to closing, the boys of Cranleigh House School held their tennis finals on Thursday. G. Jennings repeated his success of last year by winning from P. Denbigh, 6-3, 7-5. Every game was closely contested, most of them running into deuce.

In the semi-final, R. Teasdale lost a close match to P. Denbigh. The junior trophy was won by I. Forster, who defeated E. Lemon by a very narrow margin, with A. Hooper their nearest rival.

The attendance prize this year was awarded to P. Cotton, with a record of 100 per cent.

Archdeacon Nunns attended and gave the boys an address before presenting the winners with their trophies, and C. V. Milton, the headmaster, reported a very successful year in spite of adverse weather and a certain amount of sickness.

Don Budge Displays Great Form in Win Over Chris Boussus

Ranking American Tennis Star Strong Favorite to Lift Wimbledon Crown After Easy Victory Over
Frenchman—Crawford and McGrath Win

WIMBLEDON, June 24 (C)—Don Budge, of the United States, today blasted Christian Boussus, French left-hander, off the courts in a third round match of the all-English tennis tournament and increased British faith that Fred Perry's relinquished title is due for a journey across the Atlantic.

While all favorites advanced, Budge's 6-1, 6-4, 6-2 victory over the highly regarded Frenchman was so convincing bookmakers quit taking bets on him at any price. "Why toss good money away?" one of them asked.

Budge's most feared rivals, Baron Gottfried von Cramm and Heinrich Henkel, of Germany, and H. W. (Bunny) Austin, of Great Britain, all entered the fourth round.

GIVEN STIFF BATTLE
Von Cramm was given a stiff fight by the Japanese, Jiro Yamagishi, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, and Austin had difficulty with young Jack Bromwich, Australia, before taking a 6-2, 4-6, 6-0, 6-6 win.

Henkel joined the Australians, Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath, in making it an unhappy day for the Yugoslavians. All three defeated players from that country. Henkel downed Peren Puncic, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1; Crawford downed Pance Kukuljevic, 6-3, 6-2, 10-8, and McGrath tripped Josip Palada, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2. Ladislav Hecht, of Czechoslovakia, defeated C. M. Jones, England, 6-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The United States Davis Cup team advanced en masse into the round of sixteen, with Bryan Grant defeating E. R. Avery, Great Britain, 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2; Frank Parker winning from M. D. Delorford, Great Britain, 6-0, 6-1, 5-7, 8-6, and Gene Mako winning over the Chinese Davis Cup player, S. K. Kho, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

QUEEN MARY PRESENT
With Queen Mary an interested spectator, the British-French women's doubles team of Billy Yorke and Mme. Rene Mathieu scored a notable first round victory over Alice Marble and Katherine Winthrop, United States, 6-2, 6-4. It was the Queen Mother's first appearance at Wimbledon since the death of George V.

The favored team of Helen Jacobs, United States, and Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling, of Denmark and Germany, defeated Mrs. A. H. Mellows and Mrs. K. J. Underwood, Great Britain, 8-6, 6-2. Jean Saunders, formerly of Calgary, teamed with Miss A. E. L. McOstrich, of England, to defeat Margery Middleton and Alice Burton, 6-1, 6-3.

Tomorrow's match of the fourth round men's singles games will be played and the third round of women's singles completed.

TIME OUT! By Chet SmithTHE TUTTS... By Crawford Young

CLARA IS ALWAYS GREATLY IMPRESSED BY THE B.F.'S UNDERSTANDING OF BASEBALL.

Jane Dixon Says:

A WOMAN WHOSE HUSBAND HAS BEEN UNFAITHFUL WANTS HIM TO PROMISE NEVER TO OFFEND AGAIN, AND BY THIS EFFORT IS MAKING HER HOME A MISERY.

There are virulent growths which only an operation will cure. Every treatment known to science may be applied in an effort to eradicate the ill, yet it will continue to sap the strength and to vitiate the mind of its unfortunate victim.

Operations are painful, but when they offer the only possible cure, operate.

A woman who needs heroic treatment applied to her family life writes me of the virulent growth which is sapping the foundation of her home.

She knows her husband has been unfaithful to her. She wants him to pledge himself never to offend again. And she is making her home a misery by this effort. So I say to her:

WORRY HAS BEFOGGED HER.

My dear Mrs. A.: I feel that you have worried over your problem so long you no longer see the thing clearly, and I cannot blame you, for your experience has been a very painful one.

You see, you've straightened out nothing. You haven't been able to extract a confession from your husband, so that you are not able to get him to promise to lead a new life. And as you continue to upbraid and accuse him of wrong-doing, so the strain between you continues.

Do you believe that he is still guilty of infidelity, or are you still hurt and angry at him for his past offences? If the latter case is true, can't you tell him that for the children's sake, you will forgive him for his past wrong-doing, provided he agrees to turn over a new leaf? Perhaps he would be honest with you if you let him see that you'd bury the past, once he had talked to you honestly.

SEPARATION MIGHT HELP.

If you believe that he is still unfaithful to you, and that his idea is to go his own sweet way with you in the background as a convenient note of respectability—then I think, for the children's sake again, you must talk of separation. You see, this strain on your nerves makes it difficult for you to bring up your children in the right atmosphere. You say that you would be nervous and incompetent if you separated from your husband, but I should think that you'd be just twice as upset and as unequal to the task of motherhood, while you are living with a man who is hurting you and causing you endless suspense.

Will you try to think it out clearly? Will you understand that you must either definitely dismiss from your mind and conversation the question of your husband's fidelity—or else take steps to remove yourself from the man who is causing you so much pain?

And you will write to me again—telling me whether the infidelity persists? I shall be very glad to hear from you, and perhaps I can help you with encouragement and sympathy should you find it necessary to take the step which is always so difficult to a woman like you.

CLEAN FALSE TEETH—GET RID OF STAINS

New Easy Way—No Brushing
Here-Klen, amazing new discovery, removes blackest stains, tartar, better the magic. Just put false teeth or bridges in a glass of water and add Here-Klen powder. No messy brushing. Recommended by dentists—approved by Good Housekeeping. At all drug stores. Money back if not delighted.

paper reveals the tribute to the occasion of friends and well-wishers. Facts, however, are facts. Most of us, sooner or later receive as well as give, so the truth may as well be told, that the wedding donation is probably rooted in a species of contribution, which was an out and out tax-willy-nilly.

Wedding presents, of course, are an old story; but directly it is a survival of the "aid" which a tenant was required to render to his feudal lord, upon the marriage of the latter's daughter—as well as at the knighting of his son.

With the decline of feudalism, the levy took the form of voluntary contributions of various kinds, whose nature was in the discretion of the donor, finally becoming a token of esteem and good wishes.

How to Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning, and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores, or any druggist, a package of Hemoid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness, and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoid is a physician's prescription, and is highly recommended. It is easy to use, and it seems the easiest of pills for anyone to take an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at reasonable cost.
